Spear's Review

Gray & Co, an active travel agency strictly for the 'discerning traveller', was founded by Carl Gray in 2009.

Described as an 'insatiable explorer', Gray ensures that every part of a client's experience has been curated according to their needs and preferences, valuing discretion while ensuring each traveller feels valued and that their interests have been heard. This often involves providing guests with in-house massage therapists, turn-down services, luxury jets and helicopters and chauffeur-driven SUV's - even in the most remote locations.

Destinations span six continents, and opportunities for an exciting holiday are nearly endless. The company is especially popular with those who are looking for adventurous tours where they aren't afraid to 'sweat on an uphill, hike a glacier, ride a camel, bargain in a market, or dine like a local'.
